

1. Earning miles on airBaltic flights

- 1.1. Miles are credited to the Member's account for each actually flown segment of a fully paid scheduled flight by airBaltic.
- 1.2. To receive miles for airBaltic flights flown, reservations must be booked under the Member's name exactly as the Member's name appears on the Account. Any discrepancy may delay or void receipt of Miles. Only the person named on the BalticMiles Account and who actually flies can earn Miles, even if the travel is purchased by someone else.
- 1.3. The number of Miles credited for direct flights depends on the distance between the point of departure and the destination, booking class and Member tier level.
- 1.4. airBaltic may from time-to-time offer bonus Miles for various activities or eligible purchases. These offers may be temporary in nature. airBaltic reserves the right to modify or eliminate such offers at any time.
- 1.5. Miles will not be awarded on unused, cancelled, forfeited, refunded or fraudulent travel bookings. Members may accumulate Miles for multiple seats purchased for them on a single flight.
- 1.6. If you are transferred to another airBaltic flight or partner airline, which differs from the original issued ticket, the mileage earned on the resulting flight will be credited to your account. However if you are involuntarily transferred to a non-partner airline, you may request miles for your original airBaltic booking, in circumstances within airBaltic control. In this case you will be required to send in a cover letter to outline the original flight details, along with a copy of old and new ticket details, to BalticMiles Members service. Please note: airBaltic would not credit original flights for the following reasons - natural disasters/disruption, weather, fire, strikes, war, civil unrest and closed airports.

2. Exclusions

- 2.1. Certain travel is not eligible for earning Miles. This includes, without limitation, the following: all travel purchased with Miles (Award Flight) free ticket promotions including free or reduced rate travel, non-revenue travel, charter flights, travel agency/industry reduced rate travel, unpublished fares, travel subject to special provisions and services for which the Member receives benefits under another bonus programme.
- 2.2. airBaltic reserves the right to determine which travel is eligible to earn Miles. Certain other services may also be excluded from Miles accrual following a prior announcement in the BalticMiles communication media.

3. Crediting procedure

- 3.1. Automatic crediting of Miles to a Member's account is only possible if the Member quotes his/her BalticMiles Membership number or shows his/her card, when checking in for the flight. Any Miles not automatically registered can be credited to the Member's account within 6 months after the flight date, but not earlier than 10 days after the flight. For newly enrolled Members Miles can be registered for journeys that took place up to 30 days prior to enrolment.
- 3.2. Mileage can be claimed online by entering the booking reference or through the presentation of a boarding pass for a particular flight or a copy of flight-ticket or e-ticket receipt. Letters and documents sent to airBaltic will be archived. Requests for such letters and documents to be returned in their original form will not be granted.
- 3.3. Any attempt by a member to claim mileage from the same boarding pass on more than one occasion with different carriers will constitute a breach of this agreement and the termination provisions in clause 5.1 will apply.

4. Spending miles on airBaltic flights

- 4.1.1. Award Flights are available through the flight booking process at www.airbaltic.com. Spend miles to pay for your flight (including taxes, fees, surcharges and other ancillary items) simply by using an online slider to pick the balance of miles and money to pay for any seat, at any time on any airBaltic operated flight. When booking your airBaltic flight ticket, log into your profile and Miles & Money slider will appear with other pricing information. You can choose any combination of miles and money to pay for your flight. Miles will be deducted and credit card payment will be due at the time of booking. The number of miles you'll need depends on the destination, day of the week, the season and the booking class of your chosen flight. Any change to your booking may result in a change in the number of Miles required and may also have associated fees. If you do not board your Award Flight all Miles used in connection with the Award Flight will be forfeited.

In the event that awards are released in exchange for miles acquired by misuse, airBaltic reserves the right to demand compensation in place of the miles required to release the award, insofar as the Miles balance, excluding the miles acquired by misuse, are not sufficient to release the award. The amount of compensation per mile is calculated based on the applicable mile purchase price for the highest scale value at the time of the damaging event. The respective applicable scale value is published in the BalticMiles communications media. airBaltic also reserves this right in the event that the Miles account has a negative balance in other cases of misuse as well as unsanctioned conduct by the Member.
